STRATEGIC THINKING

1. Context®

What Is Context?

Perspective and background are important for people with strong Context talents. They value the retrospective viewpoint because they believe that is where the answers lie. They look back to understand the present. From the past, they can discern blueprints for the future. People with dominant Context talents might feel disoriented when they can't see patterns stemming from prior events. Others may become impatient with them as they strive to understand the history of a given situation. But this historical context gives them confidence in their decisions.

Driven by your talents, you like visiting, thinking, and working with people who have a keen appreciation of past events. Their accurate understanding of historic figures probably piques — that is, arouses — your interest.

It's very likely that you are quite intrigued by history's significant events and people. Information about global conflicts fascinates you.

Because of your strengths, you are a history buff — that is, someone ardently devoted to studying the past. You are especially drawn to firsthand accounts of global conflicts. You link people to events and trace timelines. You are likely to examine major battles from the perspective of foes and allies as well as neutral parties. The sum of your findings probably allows you to determine what started and eventually ended each war.

Chances are good that you experience a burst of enthusiasm when you meet a newcomer who shares your interest in past events, historic places, and prominent figures of the past. You rarely have difficulty initiating these discussions and keeping them moving. Why? As history buffs — that is, enthusiasts — both of you are eager to ask and answer questions.

By nature, you find the mistakes of the past to be enlightening. You navigate through former setbacks to discover the path to progress.

RELATIONSHIP BUILDING

2. Relator®

What Is Relator?

Relator talents describe a person's attitude toward their relationships. People with strong Relator talents are drawn to others they already know. They do not necessarily shy away from meeting new people — in fact, they may have other themes that cause them to enjoy the thrill of turning strangers into friends — but they do derive a great deal of pleasure and strength from being around their close friends. A person with strong Relator talents forms close relationships with people.

EXECUTING

3. Deliberative®

What Is Deliberative?

People with strong Deliberative talents are careful and vigilant. Everything may seem in order, but beneath the surface, they sense many risks. Rather than avoiding these hazards, they draw them out into the open so they can identify, assess and ultimately reduce each risk. Thus, those with strong Deliberative talents bring a thorough and conscientious approach to making decisions. They take care to consider options, thinking through the pros and cons of each alternative. To them, making the correct choice is more important than the time it takes to do so. They see life as something of a minefield. Others may run through it recklessly if they so choose, but those with Deliberative talents take a different approach. They identify the dangers, weigh these risks' relative effect and then place their feet deliberately. They walk with care.

Chances are good that you are a reserved individual. You choose to keep personal matters to yourself. This may partially explain why you launch projects that require little conversation about your experiences or successes.

It's very likely that you select your friends with great care. You are comfortable nurturing up-close and personal relationships with these chosen individuals. The quality of your relationships is much more important to you than the number of people who say you are their friend.

Driven by your talents, you make a point of reinforcing favorable results. You accentuate the good you see in others. You provide people with concrete and specific details about what they do well. You help them build on their talents. This, you contend, contributes to their continued success.
